

Station Style Fire Station Design Awards 2003 – Call for Entries

Receive national acclaim for your fire station design projects with Fire Chief magazine's third annual Station Style Awards.

The Station Style Fire Station Design Awards will recognize superlative work in three categories: career stations, volunteer stations and station renovation. This prestigious competition recognizes architects and fire departments for their great achievements in fire station construction and design.

If selected for publication, your successful fire station design will appear in our distinctive November issue and be seen by more than 52,000 fire chiefs, officers and manufacturers in the fire service market. The Station Style Awards issue will be a valuable guide to ideas and innovations for fire service executives.

Don't miss this opportunity to be acknowledged as a leader in fire station architecture and receive national recognition for you, your firm and your client.

Deadlines:

Entry form due:
June 6, 2003

Portfolio due:
July 10, 2003

Entries will be accepted for career stations, volunteer stations and station renovation projects. The entry may reflect an entire fire station or a specialized part of the facility.

Projects must have been completed since January 2, 2001, or under contract for construction on or before September 1, 2003.

Entry information

Complete Entry Form — Due June 6

Complete the attached entry form for each project and mail or fax to:
